
2017 SUMMER INTERN PROGRAM

At American AgCredit, we strongly believe in investing in our future. We have designed our program to educate and provide on-the-job training to future potential employees. We strive to provide our students with a realistic experience and a basis from which to make informed career choices. Valuable, long-term relationships are formed and many times lead to future employment opportunities. We view our Intern Program as a summer-long interview, from which both the Association and the student have the opportunity to learn and benefit.

The Internship

The program starts with an orientation and training program in California. Senior Management provides an overview of the company including accounting, credit philosophy, loan documentation, human resources and legal issues. Experienced Credit and Appraisal staff presents an extensive training program providing instruction on financial analysis, loan structure and pricing, and appraisal theory. As a group, the interns analyze a sample loan from application to funding and produce a complete appraisal. Participants will then spend multiple weeks working in our branch offices. In the branches, interns will be mentored by industry professionals. Interns will also be exposed to aspects of agricultural finance, from meeting with customers at their operations to making loan decisions and recommendations on actual loan packages. As well as aspects of appraisal theory and practical application of agricultural real estate valuation.
