American AgCredit Offers Free Online Listing to Agricultural Realtors

Exclusive Agreement Gives Unlimited Listings for Ag Realtors Throughout CA and NV

(SANTA ROSA, CA) – American AgCredit announced today its partnership with Lands of America to offer unlimited free, online listing opportunities to all agricultural real estate agents and brokers within California and Nevada.

Through an exclusive agreement with American AgCredit, all Lands of America listings within California and Nevada are routed through the Association, as long as the realtor is signed up by American AgCredit. Each realtor can host unlimited listings with photos for six months at no cost, after which the cost is only $29.95 per month.

According to Senior Vice President of Marketing Terry Lindley, the program is an important channel for borrowers interested in moving forward during a time when many banks are tightening up on credit, making it more difficult for realtors to find financing on ag properties.

“We see this as a value-added tool to help local agricultural real estate agents market their properties,” Lindley said. “We’re excited to be able to offer this service which makes it easier for borrowers as well.”

Lands of America is the largest rural land listing service in the U.S., advertising farms, ranches, timberland, mountain and waterfront properties. Anyone searching for a rural property can search via a link on American AgCredit's website home page, find a property, and request information on financing – all in just a few clicks. Properties are searchable by state, region, price, acreage and type (commercial, residential, etc.).

“The great advantage for us is that we are a solvent and stable ag financing firm. If you're looking for financing, we are the Association to go to,” added Lindley.
